

Figure 3. Percentage of valid (and accepted) ADP data (considering here the main-cell north velocity component) that are concurrent with valid probe data. The results are shown for 1 to all (6) probe parameters, at least, required to be valid at the time of the valid ADP records. The cumulative duration (in years) of combined valid ADP-probe data is shown on top of each column.