Dear Authors,

I appreciate the work you have done.

I looked over your manuscript and data that you have submitted in ESSD for publication in depth, and found that the content is very relevant and impressive with good collection of review data on Growth characteristics of natural and planted Dahurian larch in northeast China.

I believe the wider research community will be very grateful and appreciative. I found your work formulates a nice role model for in-depth research and conservation of Dahurian larch.

So I propose that the review article can be moved ahead for further process.

Thanks again and i wish the authors for good luck and look forward to interacting with you more over time.

Kind regards,
