Thank you for the helpful review comments. We agree that a broader sweep of work in other cities would provide more context and a better understanding of the topic for the reader. We will include text and citations to many of the cities mentioned in the review and possible a few others, nothing those that have integrated bottom-up/top-down and those that haven't. A good place for additional text would be page 3, line 107. We will insert a new paragraph prior to "The Hestia approach has been used...."
