We thank the editor and four anonymous reviewers for their time and constructive comments on the manuscript and data. In response to these comments we have made some edits to the manuscript and added some additional supporting material.

Responses to all individual comments and a tracked changes version of the manuscript can be found in the attached supplement.

In addition to the changes made in response to reviewer comments we have (1) updated figure 3 because the EU was missing in the original version of the paper. (2) updated the data description in response to feedback from collaborators and in anticipation of releasing updated versions of the dataset.
