The paper Sea surface salinity and temperature in the Southern Atlantic Ocean from South African icebreakers, 2010–2017 by Aulicino et al, has been reviewed by two referees (one of which submitted his comment as 'short comment'.

Both referees are experts in Arctic / Antacrtic environments and have provided a positive evaluation of the paper.

On the base of evaluations and my personal opinion, it is possible to end the discussion and ask to authors the review the paper on the base of comments received.
