

Interactive comment on “Greenland liquid water runoff from 1979 through 2017” by Kenneth D. Mankoff et al.

Kenneth D. Mankoff et al.

kdm@geus.dk

Received and published: 26 August 2020

We are grateful for the helpful reviews and pleased that the reviewers seem to think this is useful work. We would like to warn and apologize to the reviewers that due to their helpful comments, the document has changed substantially - enough that while the LaTeX diff program did not crash, it does not produce very useful results.

This significant re-write means that some of the specific comments you provided cannot be directly addressed because some text and figures have been entirely removed. In addition, reviewing this reply may be a bit more work than if we had only done the minimum needed to address the comments. We hope you don't mind this extra work and see the value in the changes that we made. Thank you.

C1

Please also note the supplement to this comment:
<https://essd.copernicus.org/preprints/essd-2020-47/essd-2020-47-AC1-supplement.pdf>

Interactive comment on Earth Syst. Sci. Data Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/essd-2020-47>, 2020.

C2