Reconstruction of hourly coastal water levels and counterfactuals without sea level rise for impact attribution – Response to Topical Editor

Dear editor,

We have now added a link to the full published dataset, both in the "Abstract" and the "Code and Data Availability" sections of our manuscript. We have also updated the postprocessing code in the published source code and updated the links in the manuscript to the current version 1.2. We additionally updated the published data and scripts to reproduce the analysis and plots presented in the paper, the links in the manuscript are updated to version 1.2.

We have found one error in the code producing the supplementary Fig. S1, panel (b). We have uploaded an updated document for the supplementary materials.

We thank the editorial team at Copernicus for their support.