

Dear Editor,

We are trying to respond to all the comments in details as below. We have revised the manuscript and addressed the points raised by the topic editor. We have improved the language and added a cover page to the supplemental material in this revision.

Many thanks for all the work all the editors have done on this manuscript. We hope this revision can solve most of the problems you referred to in your comments.

Please find the specifics below.

Comments from the Editor:

Dear authors,

Thanks for addressing the comments that reviewers raised. This work presents an informative and robust database;

- (1) however, the manuscript would benefit from further language refinement.
- (2) Additionally, please include a cover page for the supplementary material and ensure that the supplementary tables and figures are appropriately cited in the main text.

Response:

(1) We appreciated your suggestions very much. In the new version, we have made great efforts to polish and refine the language of the full text, improving clarity and overall readability, and making it more in line with academic standards.

(2) Thank you very much for your reminder at this. We have included a cover page in the supplementary material in accordance with the journal's format. We also double-checked all references to the supplementary material in the main text and found that Table S3 was missing from the previous version. In the new version, we have appropriately cited Table S3 in the main text (line 236).