Dear Editor,

First and foremost, we would like to express our sincere appreciation for allocating your time to examine our manuscript titled "Catalogue of coastal-based instances with bathymetric and topographic data", which we submitted to Earth System Science Data (ESSD).

Our special appreciation also goes to the three reviewers who took the time to proofread this article, and for their positive feedback. In view of the responses received, notably from reviewers #1 and #3, we propose a short answer by resubmitting the manuscript as is, without any modifications. As for reviewer #2's feedback, unfortunately it did not concern the article, but a user's guide submitted in addition to the data on Zenodo. However, we do take these comments into account to improve the quality of this user guide, in the interest of users.

Thanking you again for your time and hoping that this article may be published for the benefit of the community.

Best regards,

The authors
