

Dear Editor and Authors,

I believe this manuscript will be of particular interest to a broad scientific community, as it presents a fundamental and unique long-term dataset derived from continuous monitoring in a crucial area of the Mediterranean Sea.

The authors have adequately addressed all comments and revised the manuscript to fill the identified gaps. I therefore recommend that the editor accept the article in its current revised form.